

22. THREE WISE MAN

After a hard day on the road, three wise men decided to spend a night on the edge of the forest. While they were sleeping, one of them smirched their faces with color. When they wake up in the morning, each of the wise men saw the faces of the other two, and thinking that his face is clean, started to laugh. The smartest one, however, quickly got serious realizing that his face is colored too. How did he think